On the off chance you don't get one, or if you don't want to use your account to check GitHub for sensitive info, you can also "suggest a repository" at [Additionally, if you add an account to a repo, GitHub can scan repo's on branches you haven't merged from. If you have any particular concerns, please contact GitHub. ----- danielweber That's good, they've added lots of other features over the years that have been added to the core service without so much as a heads up. Maybe their PR department is missing. ~~~ djhaskin987 I don't think they did it intentionally but it's likely not the best move by GitHub to show that information. I don't think it's possible for them to let people know with out somehow either prompting people or including it in their updates to users and knowing that there is a risk of not having it opt-out. ----- detaro I'd like to see the output of the scanner split by country, so that I can get an idea of what's common for my country? The present invention relates to an electronic circuit, and,
