Along with the rapid development of the integrated circuit technology, semiconductor process can obtain the source and drain, channel, silicide, and other integrated components, and meanwhile, the semiconductor process can also achieve the ultra-low voltage operation, high speed, and miniaturization. Thus, the semiconductor process has become one of the most important technologies to meet the development requirements for the integrated circuit technology. The current semiconductor devices are usually constituted of a number of integrated circuits on a chip. However, because the integration degree for a single semiconductor die is getting higher and higher, the active area of a single chip is being limited by the active area of a wafer due to the continuous increase in the area required by the integrated circuits. Although there are some improvements for the structural design of the semiconductor devices, the present device still needs to increase the chip density and integrate the integrated circuits closer to the chip edge. Therefore, one of the major trends in the semiconductor industry is to develop the semiconductor devices having higher integration degree. For a wafer which has smaller sized integrated circuits, the technology of reducing the space between the adjacent integrated circuits by forming contact vias in the semiconductor devices has become the mainstream method for improving the integration degree of the semiconductor devices. However, the method of forming the contact via in the semiconductor devices usually results in the shorts between the integrated circuits. Therefore, it is important to improve the method of forming the contact via in the semiconductor devices so that the device can be achieved to have a high-density integrated circuit. Q: How to debug with the LLDB debugger I've been trying to debug a simple Objective-C app but I seem to be missing some step. In the debugger of Xcode I open the ViewController.h file and it shows the code this way #import @interface ViewController : UIViewController { IBOutlet UIActivityIndicatorView *activitySpinner; } - (IBAction)increaseCounter:(id)sender; - (IBAction)decreaseCounter:(id)sender;
